O. Tucker Plays For 1946 Prom

• ORRIN TUCKER and his Great Band will provide the music for the Student Council "1946 Spring Prom" on March 2 at the Shoreham Hotel. Comptroller Joe Holtzman announces.

The 17-piece nationally popular band is coming straight from Broadway to play for the University's first Name Band Dance since before the war.

Tucker, songwriter as well as bandleader, has written and has had a hand in writing many hit tunes, including "Would Ya Mind" and "Especially for You," plus others, soon to be published. Believing that lights interpret feeling, he has introduced a new feature in novel lighting effects to create various musical moods. In addition, the orchestra offers one of the best vocal and choral departments, with Tucker himself often spotlighted.

Tickets for this event, at $2.70 per person, will go on sale tomorrow at noon in the Student Club and in Quigley's Pharmacy. They will also be on sale in the Law School and in Government Building, on February 18 to 22. Tickets may be reserved by a $1.00 deposit but must be picked up by February 22.

In order to keep a comfortable minimum on the dance floor, the sale of tickets will be limited. As a large demand is anticipated, students are urged to buy tickets as soon as possible. Sally Dessez, ticket chairman, stated. A certain number is being reserved for organizations and these organizations are asked to make their requests at once.

The dance, which will be Student Council's main social event for the semester, is being held from 9-1 and will be semi-formal.

Figures Increase

• REGISTRATION figures, disclosed last week by a source high in Administration circles, show an estimated increase of three thousand students over the 4,500 enrollment of last term.

A 400 to 500 percent increase in the number of veterans returning to the University accounts in part for the swollen classes and sudden influx of students, according to this official.

Keats Presents Annual Award At Buff 'n' Blue

• HIGHLIGHTING Buff 'n' Blue intermission time was the presentation of the Ernie Pyle Memorial Award for outstanding work on The Hatchet to Janet Evans, member of the Board of Editors.

The award, given for the first time on February 8, was presented by John Keats of The Daily News, who accompanied Ernie Pyle on his travels through Europe and worked with him on the News. Mr. Keats' father was at one time editor of The Hatchet.

The memorial, which is to be presented annually, was established by the Washington City Rho chapter of Sigma Alpha Epsilon in honor of the late war correspondent, Ernie Pyle, who was a member of SAE's Gamma chapter at the University of Indiana.

Receiving the award for her outstanding work on the paper in the way of time and effort to the interests of the publication, Janet was elected for this honor by members of The Hatchet staff.

Awards consisted of a gold key which will be given at the end of each fall semester to an active member of The Hatchet, and a plaque which will bear the names of winners throughout the years.

Dick Generally, co-director of the Buff 'n' Blue, introduced Mr. Keats, who then made the presentation of the awards. Herbert Halberstadt, also a member of The Hatchet Board of Editors, accepted the award in the absence of Miss Evans.

Marvin Announces Return to Conference; Creates Post of Director of Men's Activities; New Sports' Boss States Need of Gymnasium

Farrington Controls Sports, Housing, Fraternities, Men

By N. HERBERT HALBERSTADT
Member, Board of Editors

• MAX FARRINGTON was officially appointed Director of Men's Activities for the University by President Cloyd H. Marvin at a press conference and dinner held last Thursday evening at the Metropolitan Club.

Stating that Mr. Farrington would have full authority to select his own assistants and would be in complete charge of intercollegiate athletics, intramural sports, fraternities, and men's housing, Dr. Marvin announced that although the administration realized that the assignment was difficult it was "confident that our expectations will be fulfilled."

Immediately after receiving the post, Director Farrington told the gathering that his plans for the coming year include the resumption of intercollegiate football, the erection of a large field house and full participation in Southern Conference sports as soon as possible.

His statement regarding the field house was immediately the center of discussion. The group agreed that a large indoor arena suitable for basketball, track, and other indoor sports would fill a community need. Dutch Bergman, WRC sports commentator, and Lewis F. Atchison and Rod Thomas of The Evening Star advocated a gymnasium, with a seating capacity between ten and twelve thousand and were of the opinion that even that large a building would be obsolete in a few years.

Mr. Farrington, who was University athletic director before the war, was recently discharged from the Navy with the rank of full commander. His assignment while (See FARRINGTON, Page 5)

Sororities Gain Twenty-Six More Pledges

• RESULTS OF February sorority rushing were announced Monday by Agnes Smith, president of the Panhellenic Council. Twenty-six of the forty-one girls signed with PanHel were pledged to sororities. Informal pledging will take place this week.

Alpha Delta Pi and Phi Mu led the list with five girls each. Delta Zeta and Phi Sigma Sigma pledged four; Delta Gamma, three; Sigma Kappa and Kappa Delta, two; and Zeta Tau Alpha, one.

Pledging Alpha Delta Pi are Doris Dumont, Audrey Glenn, Myrtle Lankton, Louise Whiting, and Alma Wyvill; Delta Gamma: Louise Gould, Pescud Haines, and Betty Williams; Delta Zeta: DeLores Hastings, Ruth Ritchie, Joyce Sara, and Ann Valentine; Kappa Delta: Sylvia Cool and Virginia Trigg; Phi Mu: Annalee Faulkner, Charlotte Hensen, Claire Jordan, Myra McConnell, and Barbara Quigg; Phi Sigma Sigma: Jean Berlanstein, Maye Sheekin, Zeld Feurskin, and Adele Sosnick; Sigma Kappa: Barbara O'Flaherty, and Millicent Colwell; and Zeta Tau Alpha: Connie Fleming.

Eight of the eleven sororities on campus participated in the season's activities. Chi Omega, Kappa Kappa Gamma, and Pi Beta Phi did not enter rushing, although they held open house for all the rushers.

Each sorority was allowed to hold two parties. Zeta Tau Alpha, Sigma Kappa, Delta Gamma, and Alpha Delta Pi gave parties on Wednesday and Saturday evenings while the dates assigned to Delta Zeta, Kappa Delta, Phi Mu, and Phi Sigma Sigma for their functions were Monday and Thursday of last week. Rushers signed their preference bids last Monday.

Fraternity Initiates

• PHI DELTA Epsilon, professional medical fraternity, initiated seven freshmen last Saturday. Those receiving membership were Phillip Band, Morton Berkow, Samuel Binder, Robert Cooperman, Leonard Essman, Mike Micheal, and Jerome Pollock. Following the initiation, a banquet and dance were held.

Election of officers was held early last week with Bert Schneider selected as president of the fraternity. Others chosen were Marshall Jacobson, vice-president; Bernie Ostrow, secretary; Bernie Harrison, treasurer; and Jack Segal, senator.

Alumni Group, Faculty Approve S. C. Membership

• SETTING THE stage for the appointment of Max Farrington as Director of Men's Activities, Dr. Cloyd H. Marvin, President of the University, with the full concurrence of the Executive Committee of the Board of Trustees, the Faculty and the Alumni Association, announced last week that, "we are going back to participation in all activities of the Southern Conference at the earliest possible time." He added that we would begin by attempting to field a football team next year if certain problems can be solved.

Admitting that the road back to restoration of a full athletic program would be long and hard, President Marvin said it was the first time since he came to the University that all the forces of the University were working together toward a common goal.

The Faculty Committee issued a statement regarding the return of athletics which has also been approved by the Alumni Association.

Although agreeing with Dr. Marvin that it was a difficult assignment, Mr. Farrington disclosed that some problems had already been settled. Arrangements for the use of Griffith Stadium by both the Colonials and Georgetown have been made through the cooperation of the management and the owners of the Redskins.

Games will be scheduled for Friday night on those weekends that the Skins have a home game and for Saturday afternoon when they are on the road.

No arrangements have as yet been made to fill the coaching post left vacant by the resignation last week of Johnny Baker nor has a practice ground been found, but Director Farrington expects to have no difficulty in picking a team. At the last count there were eight former Colonial athletes, either back at the University or awaiting discharge from the service. (See ALUMNI, Page 5)

Dreese Announces Period of Grace For New Veterans

• ALLAYING FEARS of more than 1,500 newly-enrolled veterans who are still awaiting Certificates of Entitlement, the University has extended the grace period during which they may attend classes until April 1, according to an announcement by Dr. Mitchell Dreese, Director of Veterans' Education.

Progress took place here in a mass meeting last Wednesday night at which Government officials, including Veterans Administration representatives from Maryland, Georgetown, and Catholic Universities assisted in "clearing the bottleneck of paper work." When the Certificate of Entitlement is finally received, said a representative, delay in turning it in to the University and any hold-up by the school causes additional waits for compensation checks.

Veterans continued registering at a diminished rate all this week and arrival of Certificates of Entitlement was slowly catching up to the 2,300 vet enrollees.

Dr. Marvin directed praise at the Veterans Club for its assistance and suggested the formation of a club educational committee to consult with the faculty on the group's wants and needs.

Dr. Dreese has called attention of veterans receiving their first compensation checks to the fact that the payments will be regular thereafter. No veteran at the University, he said, will "have to pay up or get out" because of non-receipt of necessary papers.

Cue 'n' Curtain Offers 'Of Thee I Sing'; McClellan, Trowbridge to Play Principals

• CAST FOR CUE 'n' Curtain's forthcoming musical production, "Of Thee I Sing," to be presented on March 8 and 9 in Lisner Auditorium, was announced by Director Floyd L. Sparks last week.

Bill McClellan, last seen as Alquist in "R.U.R.," will play the part of Wintergreen, presidential candidate who runs on a platform of love and wins. The role of Mary Turner, who aids Wintergreen in his campaign and later becomes first lady, was given to Betty Lou Trowbridge, who portrayed Stephanie in "Roberta."

Diana Deveraux, the much involved girl in the story, will be Carol Lee Arnold, who was seen as Sulla in "R.U.R." The Senators from the north and west, who compose the President's "Kitchen Cabinet," will be played by Dave Bates and John Johnson.

Dance leads will be done by Frank Faulkenhainer, who was Essex in "Elizabeth, the Queen," and Pam Starling. Nelson Wurz will be seen as Lipman, John Mitchell as Fulton and Jerry Baker as the Chief Justice of The Supreme Court.

A chorus recruited from the Glee Club will help handle the popular Gershwin tunes, "Wintergreen For President," "Because, Because," "Love Is Sweeping the Country," "What Do I Care?" and "Of Thee I Sing." Ray Tallman, who has designed the sets for many Cue 'n' Curtain productions, will do the scenery. The part of Throttlebottom, the chief comic interest, has not yet been announced.

"Of Thee I Sing" was widely acclaimed when it opened on Broadway in 1931 and 1932, and it still retains its original popularity, Director Sparks states. It is one of the comedies that has received the Pulitzer Prize award. William Gaxton portrayed Wintergreen and Victor Moore played Throttlebottom in the original cast.

Tickets for the show will go on sale in the box office of Lisner Auditorium on February 25, Loyd Price, business manager, announced. The box office will be open daily except Saturday from noon until 7 p.m., and on Saturdays from noon until 5 p.m. Reservations may be made by calling National 5555.

They 'Dood' It!

• TWO VERY INTERESTING announcements were made at the banquet at the Metropolitan Club last Thursday evening. First, the official appointment by President Marvin on behalf of the Board of Trustees of Commander Max Farrington as Director of Men's Activities, and second the announcement by Farrington of the University's complete return to all intercollegiate sports of the Southern Conference.

Commander Farrington is to be his "own boss." Apparently anything he says goes, and he said definitely that we would return to intercollegiate football next year. President Marvin has switched horses, so to speak. He has stoutly maintained in the past that he would never sanction football again—too much competition and not enough interest in cosmopolitan Washington. He suggested we turn to crew. With the river nearby we have excellent materials at hand. This would throw us into competition with Harvard, Washington State and other great universities famed for their racing prowess. Fine, let's hope we can have that too.

During the course of the discussion at the banquet, Dutch Bergman stated we should have a gymnasium that would seat 12,000 people. Even this, he said, would be antiquated in a few years. When 4,000 people will traipse ten miles to see a high school basketball game, as they did for a recent game held at the Maryland University Coliseum, the suggestion does not seem ridiculous.

The next question is when and how can we obtain this gymnasium. The President must have something in mind, because he was considering a 7,500 capacity building before Bergman made his suggestion. Certainly with the increased enrollment this semester there will be plenty of "coin of the realm" going into the building fund.

It is gratifying to learn that Commander Farrington is now back at the University in more than an advisory capacity. Undoubtedly, now, some decisive action will be taken to increase the University's prestige in the world of sports.

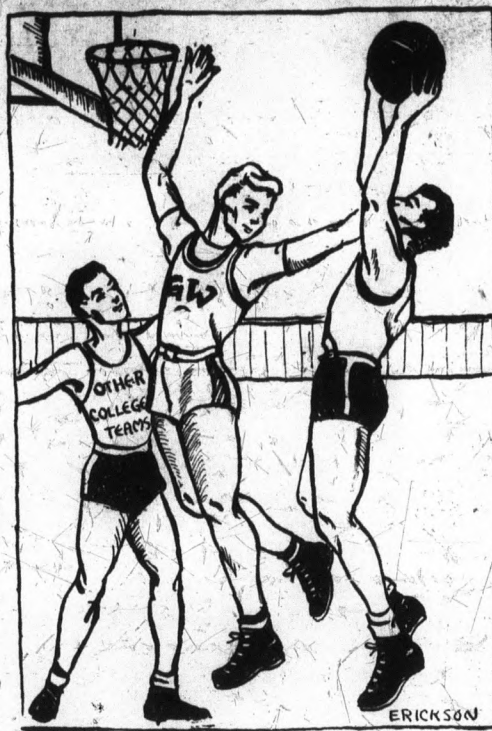

A Welcome Change

• OUT OF A POSSIBLE REGISTRATION this semester of 7,500 students, it has been estimated that 2,500 would be veterans. During the registration period people working with these returning service men (and women) were struck by one outstanding fact: their obvious earnestness and sincerity of purpose.

When the veterans first began coming to the University the only reaction among most people was one of repulsion. Loud, noisy, and ungentelemanly, they left a rather bad taste in the majority of mouths. During the last year or so this has changed. A more serious demeanor is evident.

During those early months when the boys first began coming to the University they considered themselves apart. They desired to organize separate clubs; they used the Veterans Club as a social fraternity; they tried to start their own glee club; they put out their own teams for intramural athletics. Beginning a little over a year ago a change began. Life grew more calm and peaceful. The original separatist feeling was declining and the fellows worked into other activities. Cue 'n' Curtain gained some new blood, the men's glee club rose from a low of 16 to around 25 members, various fraternities revived. Enough men were around and interested to get a start in student politics. Finally, this fall, enough men were ready—and willing—for us to return to basketball.

This semester things are getting better and better. More fraternities have returned; huge numbers have signed up for band and orchestra; various players have re-registered so that now other intercollegiate athletics are made possible.

The Veterans Club held its first meeting of the semester a week ago last Wednesday. Under the direction of quiet, capable Bill Long, the year got off to a good start. It is understood that many of the fellows are married, working, or have other interests in life outside of their school activities. For the others, however—for those interested in taking up where they left off—just going through that invaluable experience of being a plain ol' college man, the various organizations on campus have many things to offer.

The clubs are diverse, covering practically any interest imaginable. The more constructive angles of sports, journalism, dramatics, glee club, and maybe even the old debate team should receive the greatest attention while professional fraternities, honoraries, and even the social groups will come into their own.

One can't stay entirely to himself or only in a single organization and have a really happy school life. There's an odd thing about this world and that is the necessity of living with people. People are peculiar to get along with and consequently it doesn't hurt anyone to get a few glimpses of the intrigues of politics, the conspiracies against authority and all the other sordidness of human character that comes to the fore in the 'junior' field of life that we call college.

Let's Revive Conference

• ONE OF THE BIGGEST questions of the week is why has the Administration been stalling on its approval of plans for a University band? Seventy-odd students have signed up with the band committee in the hope of reestablishing both a band and an orchestra and perhaps other musical groups.

This isn't a new idea, it's a revival of something that has previously been a part of the old University. Lack of men during the war caused the death of many an organization otherwise quite an asset to student life. Now, with students ready and willing to put their time and energy into an improvement of this life, we find the Administration dragging.

This question of the band is the most recent example of a generally common lack of cooperation. Perhaps the objections are valid, perhaps not. But why this impotency? Why this stalling? Why not come right out and put the cards on the table?

We therefore are suggesting the return to the policy of Student-Administration conferences, but upon one condition: they must be attended by all, in a spirit of complete fairness and impartiality. The shilly-shallying that has gone on in the past made these conferences a farce. Students came with a desire to aid in improving conditions or to forestall changes they considered detrimental. The Adminis-

The Chopping Block

By Herb Halberstadt

• DUE TO THE SUDDEN CHANGE in the sports picture at the University, we shall digress this week from our discussion of student government to consider the new set-up.

It is not with a spirit of "we told you so," but rather with the hope that in the future the Administration will not be so quick to pooh-pooh student ideas and programs, that this column is written.

Less than four months ago I had occasion to write an editorial regarding the "Return of Sports" program as outlined by the Student Council, The Hatchet, and the Sports Committee at the Administration-Student Conference on the Return of Sports. At that time the Administration's objections to the resumption of sports and the students' answers were openly aired. Briefly, these objections were (1) the furor was based on emotionalism; (2) the University wanted to await the return of coaches on war leave; (3) there were not sufficient players available; (4) the students, alumni, and faculty not only did not desire sports but were actively opposed to them; (5) Washington will not support a losing team; and (6) financially the University could not support sports.

That October editorial, although pointedly ignored by the Administration, answered all these points satisfactorily as recent events have shown. The student referendum and the submission of a definite program proved that the student attitude was not emotional, but based on cold fact and logic. That we were able to floor a basketball team this year and that Director Farrington is planning to field a football team next year is sufficient proof of the invalidity of points two and three. Incidentally, waiting for the return of coaches on war leave seems to have been a particularly poor idea, since out of the three returned veterans both Johnny Busick, pre-war director of athletics and Coach Johnny Baker have already decided not to remain with the University but to accept posts elsewhere.

As to point number five, three of the leading sports authorities in the city stated at the press conference last week that with the Colonial's record of past performance, at least in basketball, we should have no difficulty in filling a gymnasium seating twelve thousand persons. Point number six, now as in October, is something on which we cannot comment because of the lack of information available to us regarding the University's financial status.

"Impossible" was the Administration's statement when the Sports Committee said that the faculty, alumni, and student body would back sports. In fact a statement was made at the conference that a poll of the faculty would be meaningless since most of them would say 'yes' when they meant 'no' if they thought that 'yes' was the answer expected. If so, the faculty must have had such orders last week when they issued their statement approving the return of the University to full participation in the Southern Conference. And the Alumni Association, which also approved the statement—was it under orders, too?

Although the Student Council, The Hatchet, and the Sports Committee were severely criticized for their attitude and their persistent efforts to convince the Administration that sports could and should return, it seems to me that the sequence of events since last October has justified their stand.

In connection with this performance of the Administration, it is gratifying to compare the position of Max Farrington. One of the first things he did after being officially appointed to the post of Director of Men's Activities was to request a meeting with The Hatchet staff in order to clarify his position and arrange for cooperation between his office and ours. That meeting was held last night and it is with real pleasure that we welcome Commander Farrington back to the University as he has already proven his desire to work with us and to have us working with him. This action is in vivid contrast to the usual spirit of non-cooperation evident among the Administration officials here.

tration came in a spirit of condescension. The result was nil. Concerning each discussion, nothing was done; about each discussion the Administration could, and did, say "we cooperated."

Playing with cards close to your chest is one thing, but playing with extra ones tucked up your sleeve is another. Students have the unhappy faculty for jumping at things without seeing all sides. If they were shown the "other side" the majority probably wouldn't be intolerant, but willing to work toward remedying the situation. When they're merely laughed at, or told they're wrong, without any justification or explanation, the situation rapidly clouds up and more harm is done than good. SNAFU quite literally describes the relationship of the Administration and the student body. This would not be the case were more pains taken to enlighten the student side of the situation by sincerely explaining the complexities of administration.

Brusiloff To Direct New Band

Lack of Approval Delays Rehearsals; Musicians' Plans

• CO-DIRECTORS Dick Mann and Lee Harrow have announced that plans for the new University Band have been completed and rehearsals will start under the direction of Leon Brusiloff as soon as President Cloyd Heck Marvin officially approves the plan. Brusiloff last directed at the University in October, 1941, when he left for service in the Marine Corps.

To date, seventy-six students have signed up for the following instruments: violin, 7; viola, 2; cello, 2; bass, 1; flute, 3; clarinet, 10; saxophone, 4; bass clarinet, 1; oboe, 2; bassoon, 1; trumpet, 16; French horn, 4; euphonium, 3; bass horn, 2; drums, 8; piano, 2, and guitar, 1.

The directors also announce that they have received applications for two drum majorettes and one drum major. Tryouts for these positions will be held in the near future. According to Director Mann approximately twenty students have been contacted verbally and have expressed the desire to play in a symphony orchestra.

Concert Group

Plans have been made to have two separate units, a concert orchestra under the direction of Sgt. Crasser from the U. S. Marine Band, and a marshal band directed by Major Brusiloff.

At present there are no facilities for a dance band but, according to Director Mann, swing fans can look forward to one in the near future.

A great deal of interest has centered around the organization of a University band and the committee has expressed the hope that any other interested students will contact either Dick Mann or Lee Harrow as soon as possible. A special appeal is being made to persons capable of playing string instruments.

No Virtuoso

The committee pointed out the fact that a student does not have to be a virtuoso to play in either band or orchestra and that the experience gained by playing under such excellent directors will be invaluable, Lee Harrow said. All interested students are urged to watch for posters in the Student Club announcing the place, time and date of the first rehearsal.

During the 1941-42 season, the band was led by Harry Allen, a former student of Brusiloff's, and they appeared at many functions of the University. In the fall of 1942 the band reorganized with 40 members under the leadership of Kendall Twigg, student director.

An attempt to organize an orchestra on the campus in the fall of 1943 was unsuccessful due to the lack of leadership, and no further efforts have been made until this present term.

Greene to Address Professional Group On Latin America

• PHILLIP LEONARD Greene, Latin American economist and author, will speak on Latin America at the next meeting of Phi Pi Epsilon, foreign service sorority, which will be held Sunday, February 24, 4 p.m., in Columbian House, first floor. Following his talk, a tea will be served, according to Virginia Crosswhite, president.

Officers and active members of the organization met last week to plan a tentative program for the spring semester. Plans have been made for all speaker meetings; business meetings will be held on the first Wednesday of each month.

Highlight of the spring program will be the initiation of new members and annual banquet on April 6.

Included in the plans are two joint meetings to be held with Delta Phi Epsilon, foreign service fraternity. One will be a speakers' meeting at which the Georgetown University chapter of Delta Phi Epsilon will be guests.

The second of these will be a panel discussion on some topic dealing with international affairs. Both students and faculty members will be represented on the panel.

Elsa Dik was appointed corresponding secretary of the group in place of Eleanor Nash who graduated this past semester.

LEON BRUSILOFF

St. Valentine Brings Candy, Flowers, Love

By JEANNETTE RAYNER

• IF ANY OF YOU guys feel your pulses stirring strangely today, you may rest assured that it's not the flu or the prospect of next May's exams, but SPRING, usually called Valentine's Day. (This is not a weather prediction, so don't blame me for the snow.)

For some reason unknown to Noah Webster, of Webster's Dictionary (I looked), or to St. Valentine himself, today has been decreed as the day when all the male students dig down deep into their pockets to come up with flowers, candy, perfume, etc. (to take a more hopeful view of the situation!).

In case any of you are wondering what to give that beautiful piece of femininity that you see every day at noon in the Student Club, let me give you some strictly feminine advice. (Not that anyone's going to take it, but a gal can dream, can't she?) First, you start off with at least one pair of nylons (any size, they stretch), some Chanel No. 5 (a perfume in case you don't know), can I help it if it sounds like something the chemistry department might have dreamed up? And then a nice (about 2 or 3 dozen) bouquet of flowers, preferably roses or carnations, you can take your choice, as this is after all just a man's world. Now as to the quantity of perfume, let me suggest a pint, or, if you want to really do the thing up properly, a quart (remember, we're talking about perfume).

Now, this may seem like plenty to you (and it will when you've finished paying for it), but let me warn you that the essential thing "To make the girl of your dreams rush into your arms and whisper 'Darling'" (quoted) you must add the final touch—a platinum mink scarf (at $500 a skin—use your own judgment—no don't, make it at least two or three).

Then wrap the whole thing up in cellophane—that last touch is very important—and trot (don't walk) around to her door. If you've followed all my instructions to the most minute detail, I can almost guarantee that she'll let you take her to, well, Bassin's.

Honorary Announces Conference

Lynn Plans Program To Acquaint Women With Various Fields

• AT THE MEETING of Mortar Board, senior women's honorary, last week, plans were made for a "Career Conference" to be held March 18, Margaret Lynn, president, announced. The conference will be held in the Hall of Government at 8 p.m. and is open to all women students in the University.

Purpose of the conference is to acquaint all women students who are candidates for an A.B. degree with 12 of the major fields open to them. This is an innovation in the history of the University, and is one which Mortar Board feels is greatly needed, since many students are fitted for several positions, and have not selected any specific one.

First on the program will be a main speaker, who has not as yet been selected. Then the large group will break up into twelve groups, representing the various fields. Each group will be led by a member of Mortar Board and some woman prominent in that particular work.

Fields to be covered are: personnel, teaching, law, government excluding foreign service, secretarial, foreign service drama, journalism, advertising, salesmanship, laboratory technician, and dietetics.

Speakers on these careers are being selected and their names will be announced at a future date, along with that of the main speaker, President Lynn said.

All women students in the University, regardless of their classification or whether or not they have selected their majors, are invited to attend, she concluded.

Panhellenic Holds First Open House

• FIRST OF A series of weekly Panhellenic open houses was held last Friday in Strong Hall living room from 3:30 p.m. to 5:30 p.m.

Officers and delegates of the Panhellenic Association acted as hostesses to the students and faculty of the University who attended.

Over three hundred people attended this function, which initiates something new in the activities of the University, Panhellenic President Agnes Smith stated.

In the future these open houses will be held every Friday afternoon at the same time in Columbian House. Each Friday, professors from different departments of the University will be honor guests. Tomorrow afternoon the English professors will be guests.

Sigma Nu's Notel

• DELTA PI Chapter of Sigma Nu fraternity is attempting to contact all Sigma Nu's now attending the University. Call GE 7180, Dick Mahoney.

Engineers To Present Ball At Wardman Park

• CLIMAXING ITS WELCOME to all new men in the School of Engineering, the Engineers' Council will present the annual Engineers Ball, Saturday from 9 p.m. to 12 p.m. in the Continental Room of the Wardman Park Hotel.

Tickets will be $2.40 a couple and may be purchased from members of the Council or at the door. All University students are welcome. Al Baruch, dance chairman announced. All tickets will be numbered, and, during intermission, a prize will be awarded to the couple holding lucky number. This number will be drawn by Bernadine Dumsee, an engineering student.

The Council considers this function as the apex of the year's activities. Chairman Baruch stated. As February 16 is a closed night, all University students are invited as well as members of the Engineering School. Over 300 attended last year and more are expected this year.

Entertainment will feature the 9-piece orchestra of Roy May, who also played for the ball last year. During intermission, Frederick M. Feiker, Dean of the School of Engineering, will be presented, and will speak briefly to welcome those present. Group singing will also be featured and will be led by Haaren Miklosky. The ballroom will be decorated with the insignia and banners of the various engineering societies and fraternities.

Idea of the Engineers' ball dates back to 1931, when Carey McAdams organized the first one. It is an occasion when all graduates of the Engineering School hold a reunion. It is now sponsored by the Council as one of its annual features.

Last year's ball featured the famous "kiss-o-meter" which was conceived "to measure the coefficient of osculatory response." The contestants were put behind a screen and each held an electrode. As the couple went into their clench, the emotion was recorded on the machine.

The Council is composed of two delegates from each of the engineering organizations as well as a representative which is elected to the Student Council by the Engineers Council. It is organized within the School of Engineering to coordinate and sponsor the activities of the school.

Castro David Heads Host Of Speakers

• CASTRO DAVID, AMBASSADOR from El Salvador, will speak on "Education in Latin America" at the Seventh Annual Inter-American Center Conference to be held in Government 101 tomorrow from 10:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Luncheon will be at 12:45 p.m.

Other speakers on the all-day program will be Roscoe Drummond, Washington Bureau Chief for the Christian Science Monitor, who will propose the question "Can Latin America Set Itself Apart From the United Nations?" Scott Segers, editor of the Inter-American Magazine, speaking on "Communication in Latin America," and A. Curtis Wilgus, professor of Hispanic-American history at the University, who will discuss "Practical Problems in Latin America."

The Conference is for the benefit of those high-school students selected from Spanish and Latin American history classes who have shown "more than a casual interest in Latin America and its problems," according to George Howland Cox, director of the Inter-American Center.

Each of the high schools in the District, two in Virginia, and one in Bethesda are represented.

The thirty students comprising the Conference are instructed to take careful notes on the proceedings in order to lead roundtable discussions of the problems discussed when they have returned to their schools.

This conference is an annual affair sponsored by the University through the Inter-American Center for the purpose of promoting interest in Latin American subjects.

Payments Await Textbook Sellers

• OVER $250 worth of unclaimed payments for books brought into the Student Book Exchange since October, 1945, are awaiting collection and must be picked up before May 1, manager Joe Holtzman announced. He said the Exchange is very disappointed in the students for neglecting to collect debts. In the first day in which debts were paid out, only $20 of all accounts payable was collected.

After this week the exchange will be open only twice a month, on the first and third Wednesday at 12 and 5 p.m. Wednesday, February 20, will be the first day students may come and collect debts, and also those books which have not been sold.

Davison Speaks On Law Changes In Lecture Series

• JAMES FORRESTER Davison, law professor on war leave, will give the first of a series of lectures sponsored by the Law School, on Monday, February 25, at 8:30, in Lisner Auditorium. Cloyd H. Marvin, president of the University, will preside.

Subject of Professor Davison's talk will be significant changes in administrative law during the war years. This and subsequent lectures have been designed especially for lawyers and law students whose careers have been interrupted by the war.

He received his Bachelor of Arts degree in 1921 at Dalhousie University, Halifax, Nova Scotia, and his LL.B. in 1923 and his LL.M. in 1924 from the same institution. In 1929 he was awarded the degree of S. J. D. at Harvard, later teaching there and at the University of Toronto as an assistant professor of Roman law and jurisprudence.

Professor Davison joined the Law School staff in 1930 as assistant professor of law. In 1936 he became associate professor of law, and was made a full professor in 1945.

These lectures are made possible by the generosity of Captain Hariman Dorsey of the Judge Advocate General's Office, A.U.S., an alumnus of the Law School. Tickets, which are complimentary, may be obtained by applying to the Law School Office, The George Washington University, Washington 6, D. C.

Dorm Entertains

• STRONG HALL Dorm Council will sponsor the first of a series of dances tomorrow evening at 8 in the game room on the roof with 250 veterans as guests, Ruth Minnich, social chairman, announced.

Plans are being made to entertain various campus organizations in this fashion. Composing the Council and working on the plans are Sue Berger, president; Dorothy Henry, vice-president; Rosemary Glenn, secretary; Ruth Minnich, social chairman, and Dorothy Pittinger, assistant social chairman.

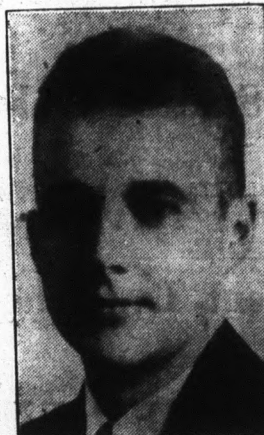

American History Professor Tells Stories Of Famous English Educational Institutions

By LUDMAN EARNEST

• RECENTLY RETURNED FROM England, where he served as a major in the Army Air Forces, Dr. Wood Gray, professor of American history, has a great deal to tell about English universities.

At Rugby he discussed, upon request, the history of immigration and westward expansion for a senior-class seminar devoted to understanding and estimating the postwar policies of England's allies. During the question period which followed the lecture, a decided emphasis was placed on questions concerning the Negro problem and this country's possible return to isolation after the war.

Later the headmaster showed Dr. Gray around the campus and explained many of the great traditions of Rugby. Recognition of twentieth-century life as expressed in the up-to-date laboratories and fine machine and woodworking shops is counter-balanced by a strong adherence to the traditions of the past. Latin continues to be the foremost language course. Students wear knitted caps with small brims, the colors designating the school or house in which they live. They would doff their hats as the headmaster approached.

Dr. Gray spent much time at King's College, a branch of the world-famous Cambridge University.

as the student lounge there had been taken over by the American Red Cross. Founded by Henry VI in 1440, King's College is one of the most famous and architecturally beautiful of all English colleges. Its graduates include Walsingham, Queen Elizabeth's secretary; Sir Robert Walpole, one of England's prime ministers; Rupert Brooke, the poet, and Lord Keynes, the economist.

While the guest of two undergraduates in Trinity College, Oxford, Dr. Gray was rather surprised at dinner—a frugal meal, incidentally, due to wartime shortages—when asked if he would care for some beer. Answering in the affirmative, he received his beer, served in a silver mug! It is the custom for a graduating student to leave to the college a silver mug with his name and year of graduation inscribed on it. In England, incidentally, a student is said "to leave" the university rather than "to graduate."

Trinity College was founded in 1554 and is said to have been designed by Sir Christopher Wren. One popular charge alleges that in

Sororities Plan Prom On April 25

Panhellenic Council Sponsors Annual Dance at Shoreham

• ONCE AGAIN the Shoreham Hotel will be the scene of gala entertainment when the Greeks turn out for their annual Panhellenic prom to be held this year in the New Ball Room on April 25 from 10-1, Eugene Lee, social chairman, announced.

Featuring music by Jack Morton and his orchestra, this year's dance promises to be one of the biggest in the history of Panhellenic. There are already nearly 500 sorority girls on campus and, with the increased veterans' enrollment, this promises to be the largest and most well-attended dance of the year.

This is an annual affair sponsored by the Panhellenic Council, a national association of sororities with a council on every campus where national sororities are located. Delegates from each sorority compose the council and determine the policy of campus rushing rules and regulations.

During intermission Delphi, national honor society for outstanding sorority women, will tap. This organization consists of two members from each sorority on campus. Tapping takes place every spring. Also at this time Dolores Lancaster, president of the inter-sorority athletic board, will present the intramural cups awarded by the Panhellenic Council to the winners of the individual sports tournaments sponsored by the board.

The scholarship chairman will present the Panhellenic scholarship cups which are awarded annually to the senior woman with the highest average, the sorority with the highest chapter average, and the sorority pledge class with the highest average.

This year Agnes Smith of Alpha Delta Pi is president of the council, with Mary Alice Novinger of Delta Zeta, vice-president. Virginia Kirkbride, director of personnel guidance, is advisor to the council.

Farrington

In service had been with the Navy V-12 program.

The new director began his job by saying he thought we could not build up a name in athletics merely by having a good team or a succession of good teams but that we needed a good gymnasium which in addition to being the site for our basketball games could also be used for physical education classes, intramurals, and other intercollegiate competition such as track.

Others present at the dinner besides President Marvin, Director Farrington, Bergman, Thomas, and Atchison were Jimmy Gibbons of WMAL; Francis Etann of The Evening Star; John Busick, former athletic director of the University who resigned last week to become public relations manager for Group Hospitalization, Inc.; Trustee Walter Tuckerman; Herb Halberstadt of The Hatchet; Bob Wolf, WINX sportscaster who broadcasts most of the local collegiate basketball games; Newton Bowers of The Post; Maury Fitzgerald of The Times-Herald; Arch MacDonald of WTOP; Henry W. Herzog, Comptroller of the University; and Lester Smith, Alumni Secretary.

Rushes Ballot for Favorite Fraternity in Columbian House

By RAY GLASSCOCK Features Editor

• TODAY IS THE day for you fraternity-minded Freshmen to trot up to Columbian House and ballot for the Greek group of your choice. There you'll find alluring, vivacious Dottie Henry, who will count the ballots for the sake of fairness, huh? at the request of Interfraternity Council.

For your information, the sad, sad looks on the countenances of "the Brothers," are due, no doubt, to the stress and strain of having both to plan and attend the parties which make rush week rush week. So stop your complaining, rushees, all you had to do was be the guests. Fortunately, we're not as near hospital cases as we were last October, thanks to IFC's wise idea of limiting each fraternity to four functions.

Big Sis Register

• A BOOTH WILL BE open in the Student Club Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday from 11:30 to 1:30 for new women students to sign up for Big Sisters, announced Barbara Stellwagen, president.

Religious Notes

By JEANNETTE RAYNER

Canterbury Club

• "HOW TO PRESENT Christianity to Agnostic Friends" will be the subject of the Rev. James A. Pike's sermon at St. John's Church, 821 16th Street N. W., to members and guests of the Canterbury Club next Sunday, at 8 p.m. This is one of a series of sermons on this topic. At 6 p.m. the group will hear Grover Oberly, organist at St. John's, on "The History and Development of Church Music." His talk will be illustrated by records of organs all over the world which Mr. Oberly has collected.

Luther Club

• LUTHERAN STUDENTS Union met last night to hear the Rev. David Thomas, assistant director of the Department of Social Welfare, on "The Lutheran Church's Attitude on Social and Economic Problems."

All students are invited to the World Day of Prayer service to be held Sunday at 7 p.m. in the Margaret Brent Dormitory at Maryland University.

Westminster Foundation

• WESTMINSTER Foundation held its first meeting with Canterbury Club last night at the Westminster Presbyterian Church. Mr. A. T. Mollagen from the Virginia Theological Seminary, spoke on "Science and Religion."

Hillel Councilorship

• AT THEIR MEETING Tuesday night Hillel presented a program of social and folk dancing.

Next Tuesday, an inter-faith program will be presented, with representatives from the various religious clubs of the University attending. The speaker will be Dean Koenig, who will speak on "How We Can Better Inter-faith Activities."

Hillel meets regularly every Tuesday at 8:30 in Columbian House.

Christian Science Organization

• THE EXECUTIVE Committee of the Christian Science Organization will meet today at 5:30 in Columbian House to wind up business before the annual spring business meeting on February 28.

Newman Club

• A. JAMES DELPOLO, Newman Club vice-president and recently elected Chairman of the Executive Committee of the Youth Conference of Christians and Jews, announces the first panel discussion in the Department of Interior Auditorium, Thursday, February 21 at 8:50 p.m. This program is being presented as part of the Nation-wide "American Brotherhood Week" with the theme—Peace in our Town—Through Understanding. The movie picture, "It Happened In Springfield" will be offered as a basis of discussion for the panel which will be composed of representatives from Protestant, Catholic, and Jewish Groups.

Poll OKs Strong Hall Scheme

Dormitory to Give Series of Dances For Student Body

By BILL CARROLL

• STRONG HALL Dorm Council has made plans to sponsor a series of dances to entertain the organizations on campus. The first dance will be held in the game room on Strong Hall roof tomorrow at 8 p.m., with 250 veterans as guests.

The Hatchet poll has interviewed several of the students at the University to see just what they think of this idea. Here are their comments:

Bob McCoskey, Sophomore: "Sounds like a good idea. It will give the fellows on campus a much better chance to get acquainted with the girls at school. The Student Club is so crowded these days that it is literally impossible to meet a friend there, let alone new people."

Carl Blake, Freshman: "I think that a school which has practically doubled its enrollment should have a great many more social activities in order to accommodate interested parties. I think this plan is an excellent idea and I feel certain that it will at least be the start in furthering the orientation of new students at the University."

Bob Carry, Freshman: "This is a very good plan. I just started at the University and I find it very difficult to get acquainted with many people in a school this size. I think these weekly sponsored dances will give the new fellows a chance to become acquainted with people at school and will do a great deal to enhance University life for the new men."

Joseph Best, Freshman: "Weekly sponsored dances are a good idea. So far, I have had little opportunity to meet new people at the University and I think this plan presents a very good solution to the problem of getting acquainted at a school this size."

ices, to try out for the team. Although no decision has been made, at least one application for the mentor's post was in the director's hands last Thursday.

Tentatively scheduled for next season are football games with The Citadel, King's Point Merchant Marine Academy, and our old rival, Georgetown. Dr. Marvin and Mr. Farrington agreed that for the first year a schedule of five or six games would be satisfactory.

The statement of the Faculty Committee says, in part, "The Committee . . . reaffirms its approval of the program of intercollegiate athletics based on the University's membership in the Southern Conference, and voices its belief in the value of intercollegiate athletics when conducted in harmony with the essential educational purposes of the University. Intercollegiate competition is a healthy focus of University loyalty and under proper conditions offers desirable recreation for participating students. The Director of Athletics . . . should handle all phases other than those affecting the eligibility of players, which should be under the jurisdiction of a special faculty committee."

Recommending that athletics be resumed at the University, the committee set forth the following conditions under which they believe such a program should be followed:

1. The players themselves should be representative of the student body. The players should enjoy the game as competitors in a recreational sport, rather than as mere performers in a public spectacle.
2. Contests played outside of the regular season, such as post-season games, are looked upon with disfavor.
3. Contests involving more than three days' absence from the University shall be avoided.
4. No student shall represent George Washington University in intercollegiate athletics until he has completed satisfactorily one academic year's work at the University.
5. No student shall be eligible for a varsity team in more than three different academic years.
6. Only undergraduate students should be eligible for a varsity team. No student shall be eligible unless he is in good scholastic standing.
7. An athlete may be awarded a scholarship, loan, job, or other financial aid on his merits as a person and student on the same basis as other students.
8. Exceptions to these rules may be made in cases of returning veterans as authorized by the Conference.

• WHO WAS THAT MAN? This has been the question stirring the minds and hearts of two blonde coeds for several weeks, but not for the usual reason. Not long after exams were over, the girls were riding in a cab with their dates, busily engaged in telling how they managed to pass their exams. One of the boys was sitting in front with the driver and another passenger. The latter, upon hearing the tale, murmured to the boy, "That's a new one on me."

IFC Prom To Feature Keys, Awards

• ANNUAL Interfraternity Prom will be held Tuesday in the Continental Room of the Wardman Park Hotel from 10 p.m. to 1 a.m. Larry Strickland, president of the Interfraternity Council announced.

Gate and Key, social fraternity honorary, will tap new candidates during the evening. Members will be selected from each fraternity for outstanding work during the year. Cups will be awarded for football, basketball, baseball, bowling, and ping pong to the winners of last year's interfraternity athletic contests. There will also be a key presented to each of the Council's delegates.

Hal McIntosh and his "Alaskans" will make music for the affair. Soft drinks and set-ups will be provided and the dance promises to be one of the outstanding events of the year, Chairman Dick Generely stated.

Since the prom is sponsored by the Interfraternity Council it will be financed by the fraternities. For each active member in their roster, and for one-fourth of their pledges, every fraternity is assessed $3.00.

The Interfraternity Council is set up to promote scholarship and to cultivate a close harmony among the fraternities of the University. It seeks to further extra-curricular activities and has the power to supervise and regulate all activities in which the fraternities participate as a group.

It sets the scholastic requirements for initiation into the various fraternities, frames the rush rules, and fines violations of its regulations. Its chief purpose is to assist in solving any problem which concerns the Greek letter organizations on campus.

Entertainment, Music Close Gala Student Club Informal

• VARIED entertainment, presentation of an award, and large attendance successfully terminated the Buff 'n' Blue dance held February 8 in the Student Club, Co-Director Diana Roosevelt announced.

Approximately 180 people attended the dance. Highlights of the evening were the presentation of the Ernie Pyle Award, for outstanding journalism work, to Janet Evans (received for her by N. Herbert Halberstadt); a preview by Cue 'n' Curtin of the coming musical "Of Thee I Sing," and vocal offerings by Dave Bates of the Glee Club.

Walter Salb's five-piece dance band furnished music for the evening. In keeping with the theme of Buff 'n' Blue dances, the initial-carved tables were covered and set back against the walls to permit room for dancing. Cokes were served, thereby completing the traditional conception of the dances in the "dry night club."

Brother Ray Glasscock surreptitiously walked out of his fraternity rush party with several cream puffs. He ate some and saved the others for the next day. They did not "save," however. Later The Hatchet was minus its Features Editor for a couple of days while he wrestled with ptomaine poisoning. That'll larn ya, son!

Mrs. Lowell Ragatz, wife of the history professor, has been in London for quite some time with the Office of War Information. While there she met Major Donald Sickler, Army medical corps. It was Major Sickler who, upon entering a Dutch province found there only one person who could speak English. She happened to be Sister Eleanor Lippetts, his partner in the Medical School where they both took their degrees. Small world!

Can you imagine anyone crawling up on the statue of George Washington in the Library to discover whether or not he was as tall as she? Can you, Mary Jane? Hmmm?

Our hats are off to Mrs. "Pat" (Patterson, of Strong Hall) after the revelation she made about her age at breakfast the other day. She certainly is active and few there were in the dorm who thought she was anything but twenty years younger than she says she is.

Anne Hurst spent one afternoon entertaining her Strong Hall friends with the most beautiful soap bubbles you ever saw. We certainly are getting constructive in our old age!

Keating Returns

• AFTER EXACTLY THREE years of service with the Army, Dr. L. Clark Keating has returned to the University to become executive officer of the romance languages department, replacing Henry G. Doyle, Dean of Columbian College, who has been acting head.

Dr. Keating came to the University in 1939 from the University of Illinois, where he had been teaching. He attended college at Colgate and did graduate work at Harvard. He has also studied at Middlebury College, Connecticut summer school, and in Madrid, Spain, and Heidelberg, Germany.

Leaving the University in 1943, Dr. Keating served as a lieutenant in the Signal Corps in Washington.

Bridge Aids Drive

• BRIDGE PARTY will be held on the Strong Hall roof on Wednesday at 8 p.m. Sue Burgess, president of the Symphony Club announced.

All students are invited to attend. Price of admission will be 50c per person, with a prize awarded to the highest scorer. The proceeds are to go to the National Symphony, President Burgess stated.

The National Symphony Drive, which began February 5, will be extended to February 21, she added.

Colonials Defeat V.M.I., 48-25; In Tourney Win

COLONIAL QUINT defeated Georgetown, for the second time this year, 54-36 Tuesday night at Tech High, sparked by high-scorer Barry Kreisberg with 16 points. Leaving the Hoyas far behind, the Zahnmen took the lead and piled up eight points before the Hilltoppers could score. Kreisberg, with eleven points in the first half, helped keep the Colonials in the lead all the way. G. W. led 27-9 at the half.

In the second half, Georgetown improved and cut down the home team's lead until Moffatt put the Colonials ahead again by scoring seven points in a row.

Walter Vannoy and Doug Johnson aided V.M.I. in gaining an early lead as the Cadets battled George Washington on even terms for the first 10 minutes. During this interval the score was tied once and the lead changed hands five times. Set shots by Robertson and Kreisberg then started a flurry of George Washington baskets. The visiting Buff and Blue quintet led the Cadets 26-16 at half-time.

Bill Hawkins sent a long shot through the net as the second half opened to bring V.M.I. within eight points of the G. W. quint. Robertson and Moffatt headed a George Washington rally which accounted for 18 points, while the Cadets were held scoreless for the next 12 minutes.

Intramural Basketball Continues

Six Top Quintets Fight for Positions in Series Playoff

STANDING OF TEAMS in the Intramural Basketball League was further clarified this week by the playing of six games with the following results:

Sigma Chi, 29; Colonials, 20. Med. Juniors, 29; Med. Sophs, 27. Back Booth Boys, 30; Phi Alpha, 16.

Theta Deltas, 30; Bohemians, 24. Med. Sophs, 29; S. A. E., 23. Med. Juniors, 30; Colonials, 25.

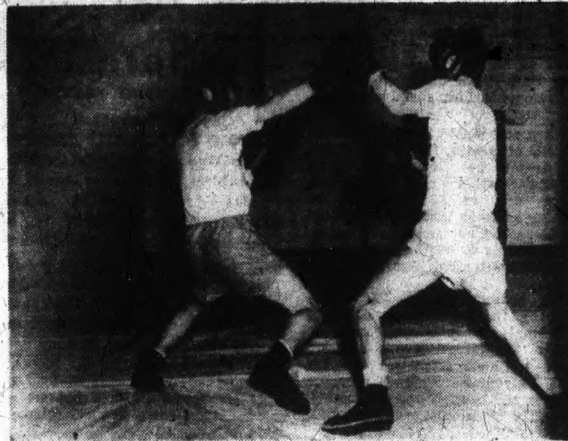

Outstanding game of the series was the Theta Delt win over the Bohemians. Theta Delt's ample reserves and excellent ball handling were too much for the undermanned Bohemians who trailed rather distantly the whole game.

The race for the four positions in the series play-off now appears to be between the first six teams, the last of which could easily become leader as the result of only a few contests.

Games have been marked by low scores, but, despite this, some of the basketballers have managed to roll up an impressive total of points, especially Millar of the Med. Juniors, who was high point man in last year's league.

The five leading scorers are: Millar, Med. Juniors . . . 59. Rixey, Sigma Chi . . . 45. Danes, Med. Sophs . . . 34. Donahue, Theta Deltas . . . 32. Thomson, Colonials . . . 31.

Men Resume Boxing

SAVED BY THE BELL—Scenes such as the above are about to be reenacted as the preliminary training and eliminations for the annual boxing tournament get under way, George "Doc" Lentz announced this week.

In The Locker Room With Barnes

ACTIVITIES IN general and sports in particular were given a much-needed shot in the arm last week when the school announced the appointment of Commander Max Farrington as Director of Men's Activities. Farrington, who was just recently discharged from the Navy, will assume his new post immediately. Future plans as yet are still very much unsettled, but in general the athletic picture looks bright.

Now, for the first time since 1943, there is something definite in view concerning the resumption of varsity sports. Of immediate concern is the rejuvenated Buff 'n' Blue quintet, which has won its last two ball games and presently will stand a fairly good chance of being invited to the Southern Invitational Tourney in Raleigh, N. C., at the end of the month. The final two games of the season will be the deciding factor in this matter.

Football

Colonial fans will once again be able to follow the Buff 'n' Blue on the gridiron this fall, as definite plans are now under way for the resumption of football and of all other varsity sports. Three games have already been scheduled and tentative plans are being made to arrange three additional ones, or, in other words, a full schedule of six games is in the offing. All home games will be played at Griffith Stadium either on Friday nights or Saturday afternoons.

The main problem at the moment is that the school is without a football coach, but this is expected to be taken care of in the near future, for Farrington has four or five top men in mind. At the present time there are about ten former varsity football players in school, and more are expected to return in the very near future. With this in mind, prospects for the coming fall look encouraging at this time.

Baseball

As to baseball this spring, it is definitely not being considered, but it will be resumed in 1947. All varsity athletics will be resumed as soon as it is possible, and, probably, a full program will be in operation within the next year.

Davis Cites Historical Conference

Council Pamphlet Discusses Release Of Atomic Energy

WATSON DAVIS, Director of Science Service and member of the Board of Review, The University Victory Council, recently released an article on "The Release of Atomic Energy" in the University publication Confidential—from Washington.

In this article, Director Davis discusses the historic development of atomic power from January 26, 1939, when, in a room of the Hall of Government, America first learned of the fission of uranium with the release of atomic energy, to present-day peacetime utilization of atomic power.

A plaque was to have been placed in the room of Hall of Government in which scientists first discussed the release of atomic power, at an atomic physics conference sponsored by the University and the Carnegie Institution of Washington.

The atomic bomb hastened the unconditional surrender of Japan and presented the world with its largest problem in international relations, Director Watson stated.

Owing to its destructiveness and small size, the atomic bomb carried to its destination by jet or rocket planes is a weapon of attack for which no adequate counter measure is apparent, he added. World cooperation seems to be the only effective defense against the atomic bomb.

Scientists who had worked on the atomic bomb project drew up statements upon its implications for the people of the United States. There are four different courses possible for handling the atomic bomb and atomic power problem, according to Director Watson.

The only hopeful course involves many difficulties, he stated. The people of the United States, together with the peoples of the rest of the world, must demand that their leaders work together to find the means of effective international cooperation on atomic power.

Relief Drive Shows Successful Response

"I WANT TO express appreciation to all the students who have given so generously and especially to the persons who have taken a large part in the work of the Dutch Relief Drive," Mrs. Carroll Healey, manager of the Netherlands Information Bureau, stated. "The people of Gennep and Hayden will be grateful for the things contributed," she added.

Response to the appeal for clothing, soap, needles, thread and food, was an overwhelming success, Betty Weethee, manager of the drive for The Hatchet, announced. Eight large boxes were filled with contributions, and have been delivered to the Netherlands Embassy.

During the four-week drive, the following articles were collected: For Women—Sixteen dresses, two housecoats, four sweaters, two pair of shorts, three slips, two pair of gloves, five handkerchiefs, two suits, four coats, two purses, ten blouses, two jackets, fifteen pairs of shoes, ten skirts, three pair of hose, fourteen pair of undies, one hat, one belt, one evening gown, one slacks suit, one jumper, one bathing suit, two scarves. For Men—Three pair socks, three vests, three jackets, four suits, two shirts, one hat, one pair of trunks, two pair of trousers, seven undershirts, one bathrobe, one overcoat.

Articles collected for children were: Four pair of socks, eight undershirts, one blouse, six sweaters, one pair of undies, three pair of overalls, and one pair of gloves.

The following miscellaneous articles were contributed: Four napkins, seven bars of soap, two sewing kits, two pot holders, six towels, four cards of buttons, four small pieces of material, one ball of yarn, one package of seam binding, one comb, two pair of earmuffs, one card of snaps, two rolls of gauze bandage, two spools of black thread, one package of needles, one roll of grey thread, two rolls of white thread, one roll of darning cotton, one chocolate bar, one handkerchief, two scarves, one blanket, one change purse, one toy dog and one toy elephant.

Names and addresses of the contributors were attached to many of the gifts. The recipients of the articles will personally acknowledge the presents.
